Report

Dr. M. Selvaraj, Principal, welcomed the gathering and the General Secretary & Correspondent presided over the function. The Inaugural address was given by Prof. P. Maruthamuthu, former VC, Madurai Kamaraj University. He highlighted the importance of sophisticated instruments used for carrying out various characterizations techniques. He also stressed on the importance of effective teaching for the upliftment of student community. The first invited lecture was given by Dr. Siva Umapathy, Chairman, Department of Inorganic & Physical Chemistry, IISc, Bengaluru. He explained about Ultrafast reactions and their applications in medical field, especially in cancer treatment, in a simple manner. In addition to that he also motivated the students to take up research as their carrier.

The second invited lecture was given by Dr. Pankaj Poddar, Senior scientist, NCL, Pune. He talked about the characterization of materials using Raman spectroscopy, especially the application of Surface Enhanced Raman Spectroscopy. He also explained the applications of Raman scattering in the field of biosensors. The third invited lecture was by Dr. K. Tharanikkarasu, Head, Dept. of Chemistry Pondicherry University. He discussed about the synthesis of layered silicate Nanocomposite and various characterization techniques employed viz. GPC, DSC, TGA, XRD and TEM.The post lunch session was by Dr. T. Sivakumar, Associate Professor, Dept. of Applied sciences, Anna University, A. C. Tech campus. He explained in detail about the principle, experimental and characterization techniques involved in gas chromatography.

The valedictory address was given by Dr. S. Sriman Narayanan, Former Head, Dept. of Analytical Chemistry, and University of Madras. He stressed about importance of Analytical chemistry and discussed how all disciplines of science relay on it for characterization. Nearly 40 participants from various institutions in and around Chennai attended the seminar, out of which 16 were teaching faculty.

All the participants including the undergraduate and postgraduate students would have benefitted out of this seminar. Their interactions with eminent personalities from reputed institutions across the country would have inspired them for doing higher studies in future. Dr.S.E. Noorjahan, Convener, gave the consolidated report of the seminar. Dr. P. Balu, Organizing secretary proposed the vote of thanks.

Siva Umapathy is a J C Bose National Fellow awardee, Chairman and professor in the Department of Inorganic & Physical Chemistry and also a Professor at the Department of Instrumentation & Applied Physics, Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore, India. He also holds a position as an Honorary Professor at the department of Chemistry, University of Nottingham, United Kingdom. His major Research interests are Laser applications to materials, biology and chemistry, and development of novel instrumentation for detection of chemical and biological materials and medical diagnostics. He has received the SS Bhatnagar Prize, C V Raman Young scientist award and Swarna Jayanthi award from Government of India. He is a Fellow of the Indian Academy of sciences and also a Fellow of the Royal Society of Chemistry, London. He is the Editor of Spectrochimica Acta, Editorial Board Member of, J. Raman Spectroscopy, J. Biophotonics, Chemical Physics, Nature Scientific Reports and Frontier Physics. He has over 150 international journal publications and over 200 conference papers.

About 〇 Research Area

Tharanikkarasu obtained B.Sc. (1987), M.Sc. (1989) and Ph.D. (1996) from the University of Madras. Recipient of Korea Research Foundation (1996 to 1997), Japan Advanced Institute of Science and Technology and JSPS (1998 to 2000) Post Doc Fellowship. From 2000 to 2003, he worked as a Project Officer in the Department of Chemistry, IIT Madras.
From 2003 to 2010, he worked as a faculty member in the Department of Chemistry, University of Delhi. In September 2010, he moved to Department of Chemistry, Pondicherry University as a Full Professor. He was HoD of the Department from 2015 to 2018. During this period, he also served as Registrar (i/c) and Controller of Examination (i/c) for about 9 months and 1 year 8 months respectively at Pondicherry University.

Report

   The Department of Advanced Zoology and Biotechnology, in association with the Entomology Academy of India, organized a National Seminar on "Innovative Technologies in Insect Science." On 14th October 2016. Dr. V.V. Ramamurthy, principal Scientist, Indian Agricultural Research Institute, New Delhi, delivered the inaugural speech. The Seminar had two major sessions dealing with Fundamental Entomology and Applied Entomology by four lead Speakers and 65 participants

About the host institution

The Guru Nanak College was established in 1971 to commemorate the 500th birth anniversary of the great Sikh Saint Guru Nanak Devji. Housed in a sprawling 25 acres of land, the college is an autonomous institution affiliated to the University of Madras. It has been ranked as the 6th best Science College in Chennai city by a survey conducted by "Times of India" in 2016. The College balances its commitment to Academic excellence by encouraging students to participate in co-curricular activities, on and off campus.

The department of Advanced Zoology and Biotechnology is a full-fledged department offering UG, PG, M.Phil and Ph.D courses. It is involved in several entomological research programs including biodiversity, ecology and molecular entomology, insect-plant interaction besides research in crustacean biology. More than 60 students have taken their Ph.D degree researching in the department. In the realm of Entomology, it has convened a national seminar on eco-friendly insect management technologies in Agri-Horticulture in 2009. It is now collaborating with EAI as co-host of the present seminar.

Scope of Seminar

The proposed National Seminar will focus on 'Innovative technologies in insect science". It aims at fulfilling the following objectives:
1. To highlight recent advances in R&D and ongoing programs in innovative technologies in insect management.
2. To facilitate exchange of experiences and knowledge on eco-friendly insect management Methods and products.
3. To encourage public – private partnership in relevant R&D areas.

Sessions

The following main sessions are proposed, so as to cover specific themes.

1. Inaugural session-with a key note address
2. Technical Session 1: Basic Entomology: (includes Insect Systematics , Biodiversity, Bionomics, Ecology, Ethology, Physiology, Biochemistry)
3. Technical Session 2: Applied Entomology: (includes Bio control Agents , Microbial bio pesticides, Botanical bio pesticides, Pheromone Technology, Cultural practices, Bio rationales, Synthetic insecticides, ecosafety, biosafety,IPM)
4. Plenary session with valedictory address.

The technical sessions will include both oral and poster presentations. The papers accepted for oral/ poster will be intimated by 22nd Sep 2016.

Poster preparation and space guidelines, besides oral presentation guidelines will be provided in the next circular/email to the interested participants.

Awards: " Best paper presentations award" for both oral and poster in each session, will be given so as to encourage both student researchers and scientists.

National Seminar on "Innovative Technologies in Insect Science"

Organized by
Department of Advanced Zoology and Biotechnology, Guru Nanak College, Chennai

In collaboration with
Entomology Academy of India

14th, October 2016

Expected Sponsors
TN State Council for Higher Education
TN State Council for Science & Technology
Science City

Support

The organizers are in the process of seeking funding support from the TNSCST, TNSCHE, and Science City, besides other institutions/ organizations. Voluntary support from those interested in the conference theme will be most welcome and appreciated.

Seminar abstract and full paper publication

It is proposed to publish the book of abstracts. The full papers will be considered for publishing as special issue of Hexapoda after peer review and subject to payment of page charges as applicable.

Registration fees (payable within 30th Sep 2016:

For Scientist/Academia – Rs.800

For research scholars - Rs. 300

For PG students – Rs 100

For Institutions/Industry – Rs. 1,500

Spot registration is possible with Rs 200 extra for scientists and Rs100 extra for students.

Please help us by publicising this event by circulating /displaying this circular to inform as many interested individuals in your organization as possible.

BACKGROUND

Insects constitute the most abundant and widely distributed fauna across the diverse ecology in the planet earth. The association of insects in different spheres of human endeavour is so intricate that we cannot ignore them in our multifaceted research and developments initiative. Of course many insect groups are beneficial to man either in ecosystem services or in serving as commercial sources of income. On the other hand there are also harmful insect groups occurring as dreaded vectors of human and animal diseases besides attacking our agri horticultural crops, constituting important constraints to maximizing the marketable yields of our crops, especially the fruits and vegetables. There are many innovative research thrusts in emerging R & D associated with insects as linked to insect biodiversity, insect ecology and behaviour, besides eco-friendly insect management. Biotechnological approaches are emerging as means of evolving a wider array of eco-friendly insect management options. It is in this context that the present seminar is being convened to bring together Entomologists from various parts of the Country.

About EAI

This is a non profit science promoting organisation registered as society with the registrar of society TamilNadu. It has over 150 life members representing public and private research and academic institutions. It is committed to promote insect science and publishes an entomology journal-'Hexapoda' besides convening conferences / seminars on themes relevant to promotion of insect science. The registered office is at ZSI Chennai and the current Executive Committee functions from the Department of Zoology, University of Madras.

Report:

Guru Nanak College (Autonomous) – Shift II, Department of B.Com (Honours) under the guidance of our Management, Principal Dr.M.Selvaraj and Director Dr. Gunita Arun Chandhok, conducted "Yoga for Youth - Way to manage stress – season II", a Workshop on stress management through Yoga on Tuesday, 27th September, 2016, with an aim of relieving the stress of the students and to teach them how to manage stress. The yoga session was conducted at the Auditorium from 2 pm to 5 pm for I, II & Final year students. The teachers of Sathyanandha Yoga Centre came forward to provide us with a yoga session. NKT.M.Jeyagopal (Sannyasi Shiva Rishi) and Vedavalli Parthasarathy shared their experiences and explained about the connections of yoga and human life. They also taught practical yoga sessions (some asanas, yoganithra,etc). More than 100 students participated in the workshop, which served as an eye opener to live a healthy life.

Resource person 2: Mr.S.N.A.Jinnah, Chief General Manager of NABARD, Regional office, Chennai, S.Suresh kumar, Asst.General Manager of Nabard, Trichy and Dr.Jeyaseelan, Group CEO of Hand in Hand India (HiH India) & HIH India team visited a tribal development project implemented by HiH India with the funding support of Nabard at Pachamalai, Tiruchy district.

The main objective of the intervention in this area is to avoid migration of tribal communities and provide them employment all year round in their own villages. The unique strategy used by HiH India for this is titled, "one lakh income from one acre of plantation crop".Some key changes that HiH India has brought about amongst the farmers in the community include:Training programmes that will allow farmers increase their net income from harvesting tapioca crops by 10 times in 5 years

- Provision of mango (54 plants), cashew (40 plants) and silver oak (80 plants) for farmers

- Introduction of coffee plants in 100 acres

- Training in intercrop cultivation

- Promotion of soil and water conservation measures such as field bunds, stone bunds and farm ponds

- Converting 450 acres of barren lands to cultivable lands

REPORT

B.Com (G) department organized one hour guest lecture in the topic "Success through Effective Communication" on 19th August, 2016 between 2 to 3.30 pm at Guru Ramdas seminar hall. Mr. Kantesh Kumar Singh, chief executive officer COMMUWAY consulting service was a chief guest speaker for the event.

He covered like…

Achieving success through effective business communication typically involves acquiring skills and experience. Learn to express your ideas clearly and succinctly. Take steps to understand your audience. Target your message to meet their needs. Using effective communication helps your message get interpreted correctly. Avoid conflicts with co-workers, managers and customers by using effective communication techniques. Practice using techniques, such as active listening and paraphrasing to ensure your success.

● Analyze your audience before you make a presentation or conduct a meeting. Anticipate possible causes of confusion and prepare clarifying statements. As you prepare, try to see the situation from your audience's perspective

● Give all the background necessary for people who receive your email, presentation or lecture to take action, such as make a decision based on the information you provide. If your topic requires a comprehensive understanding of complex underlying concepts, state so early in your discussion. Set clear expectations about what you hope your business communication can achieve.

● Keep track of the questions people ask you and learn how to respond to common inquiries. Use active listening techniques, such as paraphrasing what you have heard or nodding in acknowledgment.

- Ask clarifying questions yourself to ensure you truly understand what your audience does not comprehend. Ask open-ended questions to start a conversation, get more details or get input on issues. Ask closed questions that require a simple "yes" or "no" answer to confirm your understanding, get agreement or conclude a meeting.

- Choose the right communication format for each situation. For example, avoid using email to communicate emotional issues, such as bad news. Use written communication to convey lists of information, such as policies and procedures. Use diagrams and charts to summarize complicated financial data.

- Proofread your written communication, such as email, reports or other documents. Check for spelling and grammar mistakes so that you fix them before distributing your information. For email messages, include an effective subject line, discuss only one topic and specify the type of response you want.

- Pay attention to body language when communicating in person. A person who does not look at you or appears distracted in other ways may not be able grasp your message. Use physical cues to tailor your message or know when it might be appropriate to discuss the subject at another time.

- Defer judgment until the conversation concludes. Avoid interrupting the speaker with counter arguments. It limits your understanding of the situation.

- Recognize cultural differences in communication styles. Before you work with people from another country, take the time to investigate business practices in that area of the world.B.Com (G) first year students were participated & benefited from the lecture

 ➢ A session on Hardware was delivered by IT Team of our college to the 2nd and 3rd year students   of B.SC Computer Science and the objective was to enable the students to understand the importance of computer hardware like process RAM, ROM, IDE cable. After this session the students were asked to answer around 60 questions and the response of the students is fairly good. Students showed their extreme in tersest in this workshop
 ➢ This Event was conducted in G1 and G2 Classrooms.

Category	Students
Date	From : 8th August 2016	To : 12th August 2016
No. of Resource Person	1
No. of Participants	50

REPORT

The Department of Advanced Zoology and Biotechnology in association with Community Food & Nutrition Extension Unit, Food & Nutrition Board, Ministry of Women & Child Development, Chennai - 90 has conducted a workshop on "Fruit & Vegetable Preservation" from 8th - 12th August, 2016 (5 days). About 50 students were given hands on training in preserving fruits and vegetables. During this workshop students were exposed to preparation of different juices, smash, jam, ketch up and pickles. The objective of the workshop is to encourage self-employment for young entrepreneurs as well as to provide an insight in to the latest biotechnological trends involved in food preservation. The workshop concluded on August 12th, 2016 and the participants were issued certificates by Ministry of Women & Child Development, Government of India.

Report:

The Department of Information Technology organized two days' Workshop on "Dynamic Web Designing" with Hands-On activity. The programme started with the introduction talk by HOD Dr.J.Vanathi. Mr.T.Ravishankar, Asst.Prof introduced the chief guest. The session was taken over by the resource person Mrs.G.ShriPradha, FreelanceConsultant.

27.8.2019 Day I -> Session 1:

The session started interestingly with an introduction about the designing and maintaining of websites. In the first session HTML introduction and Cascade Style Sheet introduction was handled by theresource person. Students wereasked to develop a static web page using HTML and CSS.

Day 1 ->Session 2:

In the second session Students started building a website for their resume using HTML & CSS. They also were giventraining to include forms, Google maps and tables. The session made to acquire competency to develop, test and launch their static website.

28.8.2019 Day 2 -> Session 1

On day 2 the trainer started the session with an introduction on responsive website. The students were given trainingon PHP and the MySql database. They were also taught with PHP and MySql how to store information on the web and include it into the website.

Day 2 -> Session 2

The last session was a demo of an e-commerce website. The trainer conducted a quiz program at the end of thesession. The students interacted enthusiastically with the trainer and learnt the web Designing Concepts. The function ended up by the thanking note given by Ms.PansyEbina, Asst.Prof. of B.Sc (IT) department.

To train the students in performing arts and do programs in communities and cultural events. On account of the rural camp to be held at Kalvarayan Hills, Kallakurichi, Villupuram District, The Department of Social Work (MSW) had arranged a workshop for the students of I MSW to learn about and master certain art forms that will help them in forthcoming days at camp and like.

Mr. Arivazhagan convened the workshop by giving a self-introduction about himself and about how he came into the field of performing arts. The students were also asked to give self- introduction about them.

A brief history about arts and different schools of art, how they are important to livelihood of many people and how it is respected and believed to be preserved at any point of time was explained. A trademark of the tradition and culture of Tamil Nadu is well projected through art forms, especially traditional folk dances. Some songs and ragas were taught to be remembered when performing. These art forms are deserved to be preserved and mastered.

The students were taken to the field and divided into 4 sub-groups and dance together according to the ragas that were taught earlier. Each group was allowed to perform separately to bring in team spirit and coordination among the students. There were 10 steps mastered by the students at the end of the day out of 5 in the forenoon session and rest of the 5 in the afternoon session. Recalling of the first set of steps was performed by the student groups simultaneously according to the beat of the parai, the instructor gave. Post lunch, the students were again divided into different teams and the rest of the steps were taught.

Consolidation of all the steps learnt from the morning were performed by the students in front of the faculties of the department followed by feedback session for the day by the instructor, students' individual experience and by faculties. Students enthusiastically performed out of interest and dedication towards new learnings. Complete concentration was turned towards street theatre.

The session started with an activity for the students to walk in a circle with equal speed and distance in either direction according to the claps of the instructor. This activity was done in order to increase the skills like listening, concentration, perseverance and stress management in certain situations.

The students were taught a song about "Kattiyakaran"- who is the narrator of the story for the street theatre which says the appearance and the reason he had come for. This role briefs the story of the play in short, introduces themselves to the gathering and starts the play with attention seeking, where the whole crowd responds to the clap of the person and coordinates with him to listen to the whole play as the following.

One of the students, Mr. Peter. K.Y from the group was selected as the Narrator and given training about way of talk, walk, body language, expressions etc. to interact with the community.

The street theatre was based on Awareness program to be conducted at kalvarayan hills to tell how wrong and dangerous illegal red sandalwood trafficking is and measures for the people to stop such activities and divert their interest towards other manual works, art forms, etc. to stabilize their livelihood.
